

Membership registration

The association is hereinafter referred to as JJBCN.

As a member you inherit the rights and obligations of all members of JJBCN. Please refer to statutes for complete and updated information at any time.

You become a member of the association by

- Signing this document
- Registering your details with our insurer
- Paying your initial insurance fee

You can leave the association by

- Giving a written note to your instructor, physical or digital.
- Not meeting membership duties might lead to exclusion, please refer to legal statutes.

These are the rights of association members:

- Attend with voice and vote at the meetings of the General Assembly.
- Elect or be elected for representative positions or to exercise managerial positions.
- Exercise the representation conferred on them in each case.
- Intervene in the government and management, in the services and activities of the association, in agreement with the legal and statutory norms.
- Offer to the Assembly and the directive board everything they consider a contribution the life of the association and to the more effective realization of the basic social objectives.
- Request and obtain explanations about the administration and management of the directive board and representatives of the association.
- Be heard before disciplinary measures are adopted.
- Receive information about the association's activities.
- Make use of the common services that the association establishes or has at its disposal.
- Be part of the working groups.
- Possess a copy of the statutes.
- Consult the association's books.

These are the duties of the members of the association:

- Commit to the goals of the association and participate actively to achieve them.
- Contribute to the support of the association with the payment of quotas, spills and other financial contributions set by the statutes and approved in accordance with them.
- Fulfil the rest of the obligations resulting from the statutory provisions.
- Adhere to and fulfil the agreements validly adopted by the governing bodies of the association.
- Submit to mediation the controversies that arise due to the operation of the association.

Fees

Payments for insurance are dictated by our insurer.

Training fees for classes are handled separately.

Please ask the instructor for details.

Date:

Written name:

DNI/NIE:

Signature: